
Risk Disclosure Statement

1. General Risk Warning

Trading financial instruments, including forex, contracts for difference (CFDs), and other derivative products, carries a high level of risk and may not be suitable for all investors. Leverage can work both to your advantage and disadvantage, leading to significant gains or losses. You should carefully assess whether trading is appropriate for your financial situation, experience level, and risk tolerance.

2. Market Risk

Prices of financial instruments can be highly volatile and influenced by various factors, including economic events, political developments, and market sentiment. There is no guarantee that any trade will result in profits, and past performance is not indicative of future results.

3. Leverage Risk

Trading on margin amplifies both potential gains and losses. A small market movement can have a significant impact on your account balance, potentially leading to the loss of your entire investment. It is important to fully understand how leverage works before engaging in leveraged trading.

4. Liquidity Risk

Market conditions can change rapidly, and certain financial instruments may become illiquid, making it difficult to enter or exit positions at desired prices. This can lead to slippage or the execution of trades at unfavorable prices.

5. Counterparty and Operational Risk

Six Global Markets LTD acts as a counterparty in certain transactions, and there is a risk that financial or operational failures could impact your ability to execute trades or withdraw funds. We take necessary measures to mitigate these risks, but no system is entirely free from operational disruptions.

6. Regulatory and Legal Risks

Trading financial instruments is subject to various legal and regulatory requirements. Changes in laws, regulations, or tax policies in different jurisdictions may affect the profitability or legality of certain trades. It is your responsibility to understand the legal framework applicable to your trading activities.

7. No Guarantee of Profit

Six Global Markets LTD does not guarantee profits or the avoidance of losses. Trading decisions are solely your responsibility, and you should consider seeking independent financial advice if necessary.

8. Risk of Loss Beyond Deposits

In certain market conditions, you may lose more than your initial deposit. It is essential to implement proper risk management strategies, such as using stop-loss orders and limiting leverage, to control potential losses.

9. Client Acknowledgment

By using the services of Six Global Markets LTD, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and accepted the risks associated with trading financial instruments. You should only trade with funds you can afford to lose.

For further details, please contact us at info@sixfx.com or visit our office.